

Gaining Attention Using Graphic Recording

Communication is a very important aspect that must be done well in order to achieve the goals that wants to be achieved even in the smallest organization. With it, we can solve problems and achieve common goals easily. There are many ways in order to have good communication in meetings. One of them is by applying the graphic recording. Why? With so much information that we receive every day, we need more interesting media to remember.

It can be achieved by applying multiple media. For example, it can be seen in the combination of pictures and text in the graphic recording formed in large visual displays.